

Quotation#5

“Everyone has the right to be mad on the condition that one remain mad separately. Madness begins when one imposes one’s private madness on the entirety of subjects.”

The Seminar of Jacques Lacan, Book IV: The Object Relation (1956-1957), Cambridge: Polity, 2021, p.120.

