

Quotation#7

“Given that everyone’s ego-I is delusional, a delusion can be considered an accentuation of that which each one carries within oneself, and which can be written as deluslon (deliryo).”

Jacques-Alain Miller, “The Invention of Delusion,” quote translated by Florencia F.C. Shanahan.

